

Obstacle Illusions: Are You Delusional? Strategically Plan (and Play) Your Professional Life

The second in a series of four new teleseminars from NAPO-SFBA

Do you have any "obstacle illusions" that are blocking your view of the possibilities your life holds? As we move into this new decade – and peer forward into the future, you want to be focused and purposeful in your marketing, business development, client contacts, and the like. Together, let's clear your view so you can see further and make plans for getting there, as well.

This special 90-minute teleseminar, led by Meggin McIntosh, is for those unique individuals who know they are meant for something more - and want support, guidance, and clarity on what that is and how to get there.

Take advantage of this opportunity to learn about whether 'Obstacle Illusions' are obstructing your view of what is possible. If you want 2010 (as well as 2011 and beyond!) to be:

- an improvement upon,
- different from, or
- more than

2009 was (either for yourself, your work, your family, and/or your life), then you need to mindfully and deliberately make plans so that can happen. Join us for this special event.
